JOIN BRITISH ON THE TIGRIS

Russians Reach Gen. Goringe After Bold and Adventurous Ride

LONDON GREATLY SURPRISED BY NEWS

How the Junction Was Effected Still Unknown—Turks Threatened by Enemy on 200-Mile Front Pressing into Mesopotamia.

LONDON, May 22.—The first news of the operations on the Tigris since the fall of Kut-el-Amara, sent yesterday by Lieut. Gen. Sir Percy Lake, commander of the British forces in Mesopotamia, although it shows that the Turks are still holding the Sannay at position on the left bank of the Tigris, where the British checked made it impossible to carry out the relief of General Townshend, brings the astonishing intelligence that a body of Russian cavalry, after an adventurous ride, has succeeded in joining General Goringe's forces on the south bank of the Tigris.

An official communication issued last night concerning the situation along the Tigris says:

General Lake reports that on the 19th the enemy vacated the Bethlamsia advanced position on the right bank of the Tigris. General Goringe, following up the enemy, attacked and carried the Turkish Redoubt. The enemy is still holding the Sannay position on the left bank of the river.

A force of Russian cavalry has joined General Goringe after a bold and adventurous ride.

How this important junction was effected is still unknown, and the story will be awaited with intense interest. The supposition is that this detachment came from the Russian army which is threatening Khanikin, but it still remains a puzzle where and how the Russians succeeded in crossing the river.

Their sudden appearance with General Goringe has also raised the question whether the Russians have already reached the Baghdad railway at Mosul. In any case the unexpected appearance of this body of cavalry is a great surprise as was the first landing of the Russian troops at Marseilles, and is another instance of the swift and steady movement of the Russian forces in Asia Minor.

Possible Routes of Russian Cavalry.

A study of a map of roads and caravan routes on the Persian-Mesopotamian frontier throws little light on the bold and adventurous ride of the Russian cavalry. If they came from the Russian force at Khanikin, northeast of Baghdad, as suggested in London, they may have followed the secondary road which runs south east, close to the Persian border, in hostile Turkish territory. This road would have brought them to Seid Hassan, about 25 miles from the British position on the Tigris.

Or perhaps the force came from Kermanshah, which the Russians have long occupied. Main roads lead south from Kermanshah to towns in south Persia, and there is a road across the mountain frontier from Dizful to Seid Hassan, referred to above.

In this case the Russian cavalry would have had a much shorter ride across Turkish territory before they could reach the British expedition on the Tigris.

GREECE NEAR BANKRUPTCY.

Venizelos Declares Army Is Not Fit to Take the Field.

ATHENS, via London, May 22.—Former Premier Venizelos has contributed an article to the Athens Herald in which he points out what he considers the mistakes made by the Greek government.

He condemns the "blustering methods" of Premier Skoufoudis and states that the army, which he says has worn out uniforms and boots as well as part of the equipment furnished at the mobilization, could not take the field within less than two months and then only if the entente powers undertook to furnish the necessary equipment. The task of feeding the army, he says, is becoming daily more problematical. The former premier hints that Greece is on the verge of bankruptcy and says:

"While there is only one road to salvation, it is precisely that which we will not follow."

The article makes a strong bid for closer relations between Greece and the allies "before it is too late."

VERMONT ALUMNAE OF SMITH COLLEGE MEET

Have Luncheon at Brattleboro Country Club and Are Addressed by Miss Outier of Smith Faculty.

The Vermont branch of the Smith College Alumnae association held its third annual meeting Saturday afternoon following a luncheon at the Brattleboro Country Club. Eighteen were present including Miss Anna Outier, head of the department of psychology at Smith college, who spoke on the new requirements of admission recently adopted, the new college curriculum and other college interests.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Miss Louise Perkins of Rutland; vice president, Mrs. Morrill Chittenden of Burlington; secretary, Mrs. Howard C. Rice of Brattleboro; treasurer, Mrs. Gilbert E. Davis of Windsor; councilor, Miss Caroline Arms of Bellows Falls; elector, Miss Marion Gary of Rutland.

Those present were Mrs. Charles M. Cone and Mrs. Roland Stevens of Hartford, Miss Bernice Tuttle, Miss Louise Perkins and Miss Edith Dutton of Rutland, Miss Marion Gary and Miss Mary L. Hagar of Burlington, Helen Gillette of White River Junction, Miss Caroline Arms of Bellows Falls, Mrs. C. C. Fitts, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. R. C. Clark, Mrs. H. C. Rice, Miss Orlean Runnec, Miss Mary D. Henshaw and Miss Ethel Osgood of Brattleboro.

AGED MISS WATERS BURNED TO DEATH

Dress Ignited from Heater While Alone in Room—Last Survivor of Prominent Family.

BENNINGTON, May 22.—Miss Adeline Waters, aged 82, was burned to death Saturday forenoon at a boarding house on Pleasant street, where she had been living the past year. Her dress caught fire from a gas heater while the aged woman was alone in her room, and when discovered she was dead.

She was a lineal descendant of Peter Harwood, one of the original settlers of Bennington, and the family, of which she was the last local survivor, was for many years prominent in the affairs of the town.

BELLOWS FALLS.

Fine Weather Brings Out Crowd.

The fine weather yesterday brought out a large number of people. In Belhows Falls the favorite walk is by the side of the river along Rockingham road. Several years ago this road was lined with pine trees and an especially attractive spot was the Four Pines. These trees have been cut down, but the beauty of the scenery is still compelling enough to cause many people to take the walk each pleasant day, especially at this time of year. The number of automobilists yesterday on Rockingham road was greater than any previous day this year. The roads have not yet been oiled, and the dust was somewhat disagreeable to pedestrians and riders alike. Besides the automobilists there appeared an occasional motorcycle rider, speeding along the road at a great speed, through his dust-covered face appearing a determined look which indicated in almost every case that the rider was bound to get somewhere or other before nightfall or before his gasoline gave out. These motorcycle riders were in most cases speeders and brought back fond recollections of other days when men rode bicycles and spent their Sundays riding at breakneck speed in order to beat off a century or so in just a few hours as possible.

Knights Confer Degree on 45.

One of the largest gatherings of the Knights of Columbus held here in recent years occurred yesterday, when the third degree was conferred on 45 candidates, 35 of whom live here. The degree was conferred by the degree team of St. Charles council of this place, under the direction of Dr. J. T. Raden. Special trains brought 150 Knights from Newport and Glasford. Visitors also came from Brattleboro, Keene and other places. The members of the organization attended benediction in St. Charles Roman Catholic church at 6 o'clock, marching in a body from the headquarters on Rockingham street. At 7:30 o'clock the degree was conferred in Union hall and a social meeting was held afterwards in Banquet hall in the town hall building.

Rev. Dr. Pratt's 10th Anniversary.

The 10th anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. Dr. A. P. Pratt of the Congregational church was observed in the church last evening at 7 o'clock and was largely attended. Rev. Asher Anderson, D. D., of Fitchburg, Mass., preached the sermon. Rev. Dr. Pratt is the dean of Belhows Falls' pastors and last week received a call to go to the Congregational church in Greenfield. In the services yesterday he did not say whether he would accept the call.

Special Village Meeting Tonight.

A special village meeting will be held this evening. The voters will be asked to act upon a new set of by-laws, a new building code, to appropriate more money for band concerts this summer, and to act on a new municipal lighting plant. The by-laws and building code have been printed and circulated. It is thought that someone will ask to have a committee appointed to look into the matter of having a municipal lighting plant and to report later.

Building Siding to Relieve Congestion.

The Rutland railroad company is handling more freight than it has handled in years and its facilities for doing so are taxed to the limit. In order to relieve the congestion a sidetrack long enough to hold 100 cars is being constructed on the meadow at the Ray farm, which is owned by the company. A big gang of men is at work and a steam shovel is being used to help rush the construction. Hundreds of carloads of gravel are being dumped each day. Orders have been given to "Get the job done as soon as possible."

More Shells for the Russians.

It is reported that plans are being perfected at the plant of the Vermont Farm Machine company so that 4,000 shells a day will be turned out for the Russian army, instead of the 2,000 every 24 hours that are being turned out now.

George Andosea is the second barber in town to keep in step with the march of progress. Saturday he reopened his shop on Rockingham street and the public and his patrons saw a place shining white in every particular. But Ivan Fiorey two weeks ago transformed his shop on Canal street into one that marked a change from the kind of shops that for years inaugurated no changes in their sanitary features.
